

I have been listening to XM for almost 2 years now. I am extremely satisfied with the content and diverse programming offered, including the traffic and weather channels. I have chosen to pay to listen to this diverse programming due to the fact that AM or FM doesn't even come close to offering this incredible array of high quality and innovative entertainment choices. In my opinion, allowing an outside, special interest organization like NAB to dictate the offerings of a legitimate, well-run, excellent, company like XM is restricts consumer choice, without any logical merit, and contra to promoting free enterprise and protecting the First Amendment of free speech.

Therefore, I respectfully highly urge the FCC to reject NAB's petition 04-160 or any other such proposed legislation and to support companies such as XM in providing consumers the programming choices that they demand.
